- According to the White House task force briefing Saturday afternoon:
  - President Trump was stationed at the Naval Station in Norfolk, Virginia, where the crew of the Navy Hospital Ship USNS Comfort will embark for New York City, where they will join the ranks of tens of thousands of amazing doctors, nurses, and medical professionals who are battling to save American lives.
  - The ship will arrive in New York on Monday, three weeks ahead of schedule, and the crew will begin treating patients on Tuesday. Their mission is to help people who do not have the virus, but require urgent care.
  - The sister ship arrived in Los Angeles on Friday.
  - President Trump considered a quarantine in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. These states will not be quarantined, however, strict travel advisories have been put in place by the CDC.
  - The Army Corps and FEMA have completed building four temporary hospitals and four medical centers in New York, California and Illinois.
  - FEMA has shipped or delivered 11.6 million N95 respirators, 26 million surgical masks, 5.2 million face shields
- New states with restrictions to “non-essential” business or implementing “shelter-in-place” policies are: North Carolina and Oklahoma.
- The United States is advising residents of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut not to travel domestically. The CDC issued the travel advisory Saturday.
- Rhode Island police and National Guard troops are deployed to warn visitors they must self-quarantine, as local resentment builds toward people fleeing coronavirus hot spots.
- The director of the federal health department’s civil rights office said on Saturday that his office was opening a series of civil rights investigations to ensure that states did not allow medical providers to discriminate on the basis of disabilities, race, age or certain other factors when deciding who would receive lifesaving medical care during the coronavirus emergency.
- The White House coronavirus task force coordinator said Sunday that the administration is asking every single governor and every single mayor to prepare like, “New York is preparing now.”
- FEMA, the agency leading the nation’s coronavirus response said that seven of its employees had tested positive for the virus with another four cases pending, though in a letter to its employees’ union, it declined a request to say where they were located, prompting criticism from the union that the agency was jeopardizing public health.
- California governor, Gavin Newsom, said Saturday that 170 ventilators shipped by the federal government to help his state respond to the outbreak of the novel coronavirus were not working when they arrived.
- Louisiana governor said on CBS News' "Face the Nation" on Sunday that his state is at risk of exceeding its ventilator capacity by April 4, stating that he has placed orders for "about 12,000 ventilators" but has thus far only received 192.
